

MD Undergraduate Admissions Multiple Mini-Interviews 2023

Saturday, February 4 - Sunday, February 5, 2023

Saturday, February 11, 2023

Saturday, February 18, 2023

UBC MD Undergraduate Program would like you to consider becoming an interviewer

How do I apply?

- The system does not work well with Internet Explorer . Use any other browser
- Returning interviewers: <https://www.oas.med.ubc.ca/security/login.aspx>
- New interviewers: https://www.oas.med.ubc.ca/security/new_interviewer.aspx
- Need Help? Check out our Help Guide!

What part does the interview play?

- Interviews are conducted for the most competitive applicants after a preliminary evaluation to the MD Undergraduate Program has been completed.

Who gets an interview?

- The 720 candidates deemed most competitive for the available positions in the MD Undergraduate Program, based on their academic and non-academic performance.

What is the format of the virtual interview?

- We will continue to use the Multiple Mini-Interview (MMI) format, where each invited applicant will meet 10 different interviewers in a video-chat environment.
- Each interview lasts for 8-minutes and is preceded and followed by a 3-minute transition period that includes a 2-minute reading period. For more information, visit: <https://mdprogram.med.ubc.ca/admissions/after-you-apply/interviews/>

Who are the MMI interviewers?

- The interviewers are chosen to represent the interests of the province and the medical school in selecting the best candidates to be future students, colleagues, and physicians.
- Interviewers are therefore a mix of academics, faculty members, clinicians, community representatives, patients and 3rd & 4th year UBC medical students, and are from a wide range of geographies within BC.

What are the requirements for becoming an Interviewer?

- Interviewers must reside in BC, and have resided in the province for the last 2 years.
- Previous interviewing experience is preferred but not required.
- Interviewers must complete a simple ~10-minute application.
- To avoid conflict of interest, we cannot consider someone who has or knows of a family member, or other personal relationship that can be reasonably construed as a conflict of interest (friend, close acquaintance, etc.) applying to the UBC Faculty of Medicine MD Undergraduate Program either currently or in the near future. We also cannot consider someone who is thinking about applying to medicine in the future.
- After all applications are submitted, the Interview Administrative Team will review applications from all potential interviewers.
- In order to ensure diversity with our interview pool, interviewers are selected based on their background, regional distribution, and availability. If you are not selected to interview this year, we strongly encourage you to apply again as we attempt to have both new and returning interviewers every year.

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

- Please keep in mind that certain categories of interviewers often generate more interest than others, and in order to uphold our commitment to diversity we will unfortunately be unable to accommodate all interested parties. Because of this, if you are not invited to interview this year we will keep you in our database and notify you of future opportunities (unless you advise us otherwise).

What is the time commitment?

- Due to the virtual nature of the interviews, interviewers will only be scheduled for half-days.
- Interviewers need to be available from approximately 7:00 AM – 1:00 PM or 12:00 PM – 6:00 PM on the day that they interview, depending on their scheduled shift.
- If you indicate that you are available for an entire interview day (both sections), you may be asked to act as a back-up for the other portion of the day.
- In the event that makeup interviews are required, these will be scheduled for February 18 (AM). If you are available to participate during a second round of interviews on this day, please indicate this on the application. Only those interviewers who have participated on a previous MMI day will be scheduled for this shift.
- All interviewers (including interviewers from previous years) must participate in a comprehensive virtual training session before their confirmed interview weekend.

When are the compulsory Training Session and the interviews?

- Virtual training sessions: Wednesday, February 1, 2023 or Thursday, February 9, 2023
- Interviews:
 - Saturday, February 4 - Sunday, February 5, 2023
 - Saturday, February 11, 2023
 - Saturday, February 18, 2023 (Make up interviews)

Where are the interviews?

- All interviews will be held virtually utilizing the Zoom video conferencing platform. Specific instructions and training will be provided to all interviewers scheduled to participate.

How will interviewers be compensated?

- Participation as an interviewer is voluntary and we are grateful for your interest in selecting our future medical students.
- Skip the Dishes vouchers will be provided during both the virtual training session and during the MMI weekends to compensate for meals.

When is the application deadline?

- Applications must be received by November 18, 2022 at 11:59 PM PST.

When will I know if I have been selected to be an interviewer?

- All applicants will be notified via email by early December.

Consider Helping Choose BC's Future Physicians!

Thank you for your interest. If you have further questions, please do not hesitate to contact:

Nadine Goh
Interview Coordinator
MD Undergraduate Admissions
UBC Faculty of Medicine
Email: interviews.md@exchange.ubc.ca

MD Undergraduate Admissions Northern & Rural Panel Interviews 2023 Saturday, February 11, 2023

UBC MD Undergraduate Program would like you to consider becoming an NRPI interviewer

How do I apply?

- The system does not work well with Internet Explorer . Use any other browser
- Returning interviewers: <https://www.oas.med.ubc.ca/security/login.aspx>
- New panelists: https://www.oas.med.ubc.ca/security/new_interviewer.aspx
- Need Help? Check out our Help Guide!

What part does the NRPI interview play?

- NRPI interviews are conducted for the most competitive applicants who applied through the Northern and Rural Application Pathway and were invited to interview after a preliminary evaluation to the MD Undergraduate Program has been completed.

Who gets a NRPI interview?

- The candidates deemed most competitive for the Northern and Rural positions available in the MD Undergraduate Program who have been invited to the MMI, based on their rural and remote suitability score.

What is the format of the NRPI interview?

- Each panel will consist of 2 panelists who each have strong connections to a Northern or Rural region or location in British Columbia.
- Each panel interview lasts for 20-minutes, allowing each panel to assess an applicant's suitability for Northern or Rural learning and practice.

Who are the NRPI interviewers?

- The interviewers are chosen to represent the interests of the province and the medical school in selecting the best candidates to be future students, colleagues, and physicians.
- Interviewers are therefore a mix of academics, faculty members, clinicians, community representatives, patients and 3rd & 4th year UBC medical students, and represent the wide range of Northern and Rural locations and communities within BC.

What are the requirements for becoming a NRPI interviewer?

- Interviewers must reside in a Northern or Rural location in BC, and have strong connections to these regions and their communities. (On the application, if you have lived in BC for <2 years, that is okay, please select 'No')

- Previous interviewing experience is preferred but not required.
- Interviewers must complete a simple ~10-minute application.
- To avoid conflict of interest, we cannot consider someone who has or knows of a family member, or other personal relationship that can be reasonably construed as a conflict of interest (friend, close acquaintance, etc.) applying to the UBC Faculty of Medicine MD Undergraduate Program either currently or in the near future. We also cannot consider someone who is thinking about applying to medicine in the future.
- After applications are submitted, the NRPI Interview Administrative Team will review all applications.
- In order to ensure diversity with our interview pool, interviewers are selected based on their background, regional distribution, and availability. If you are not selected to interview this year, we strongly encourage you to apply again as we attempt to have both new and returning interviewers every year.
- Please keep in mind that certain categories of interviewers often generate more interest than others, and in order to uphold our commitment to diversity we will unfortunately be unable to accommodate all interested parties. Because of this, if you are not invited to interview this year we will keep you in our database and notify you of future opportunities (unless you advise us otherwise).

What is the time commitment?

- Due to the virtual nature of the NRPI interviews, interviewers will only be scheduled for half-days.
- Interviewers need to be available from approximately 7:00 AM – 1:00 PM or 12:00 PM – 6:00 PM depending on their scheduled shift.
- If you indicate that you are available for more than one shift, you may be asked to act as a back-up for the other shift.
- All interviewers must participate in a comprehensive virtual training session before the interview weekend.

When are the compulsory Training Session and the interviews?

- Virtual training sessions: Wednesday, February 8, 2023
- Interviews: Sunday, February 12 and Saturday, February 18, 2023 (Make up interviews)

Where are the NRPI interviews?

- All interviews will be held virtually through the Zoom video conferencing platform. Specific instructions and training will be provided to all panelists scheduled to participate.

How will interviewers be compensated?

- Participation as an interviewer is voluntary and we are grateful for your interest in selecting our future medical students.
- Skip the Dishes vouchers will be provided during both the virtual training session and during the panel interview weekend to compensate for meals.

When is the application deadline?

- Applications must be received by November 18, 2022 at 11:59 PM PST.

When will I know if I have been selected to be an interviewer?

- All applicants will be notified via email by early December.

Consider Helping Choose BC's Future Physicians!

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Thank you for your interest. If you have further questions, please do not hesitate to contact:

Shelley Raper, Carri Folk or Jessica Skelton
Panel Interview Coordinators
MD Undergraduate Admissions
UBC Faculty of Medicine
Email: interviews.md@exchange.ubc.ca